

Announcements

¶ Judge F. W. Howay has clarified the record of Robert Haswell and thrown helpful light on the Kendrick-Gray voyages by his article in this issue.

¶ An almost forgotten chapter in Walla Walla history has been revived by Vice-President Kingston of the State Normal School of Cheney, after a most extensive and thorough research in the newspapers and documents of Territorial days.

¶ Another extensive piece of research has been done by Professor J. Orin Oliphant in Boston and Cambridge for his article on the American Bible Society and the America Tract Society, illuminating the missionary history in the Oregon Country.

¶ George Neville Jones has paid a deserved tribute to a pioneer botanist—Wilhelm N. Suksdorf.

¶ The finding of a photograph of Marcus Whitman will be accepted as an important event for the history of the Pacific Northwest.

¶ Mrs. Eva Emery Dye of Oregon City contributes a most appreciative review of the masterpiece of Professor Grace Raymond Hebard—Sacajawea.

¶ An item in the News Department tells about plans for the observation of the Jason Lee centennial in 1934.