

OUR CONTRIBUTORS

The authors of articles in this volume are as follows:

LIUBOV' A. KIRILINA is a researcher at the Institute of Universal History of the Russian Academy of Sciences in Moscow. She specializes in German and Slovene history and culture of the nineteenth century, in particular the problems of the March Revolution, 1848–49.

ALESSIO LOKAR is on the faculty of the University of Udine, where he teaches international marketing. In addition to his scholarly activities, he has engaged in business consulting in Slovenia and founded a bank and school of management.

METOD M. MILAČ is Associate Director, Emeritus, of the Syracuse University Library, and held various other positions during his thirty years at the university. His areas of research are late sixteenth-century music and WW II in Slovenia and Central Europe.

KATERINA MUNDA HIRNÖK is a junior researcher at the Institute for Ethnic Studies in Ljubljana and a participant in the institute's projects, including international projects. Her publications on the Porabje Slovenes have appeared in Hungary, Italy and Slovenia.

BOŽO REPE is an Assistant Professor at the University of Maribor and the University of Ljubljana. His research interests are modern Slovene, Yugoslav and Central European history. His most recent books are Liberalizem v Sloveniji (1992) and Our Era: A History of the Twentieth Century (1995), the latter a secondary school textbook.

AMY SCHMIDT is a senior archivist in the Textual Reference Branch of the National Archives and edits its publication, United States of America vs. Martin gottfried Weiss et al.: The Dachau Concentration Camp Case and ten volumes of Guides to German Records Seized in World War II. She holds a Ph.D. in East European and Balkan Studies from Kent State University.