Record of Those Who Died in Service

Lieutenant Colin V. Dymont of the American Red Cross Service, who was head of the Department of Journalism in the University of Washington, is perfecting the list of those of the Ninety-first Division, United States Army, who died in service. It is probably the most complete record made for any division during the war. The list for each company is given in the chronological order of the deaths. Then follows as full a statement as is possible of the circumstances of each death. These are all mimeographed, and a complete report for the company is to be sent to the nearest of kin of each soldier who died in the company. In a separate enclosure there is to be sent a short sketch of the division, so that the movements of those companies can be traced through France and Belgium. A collection of all these
