

Turner giving his memories of pioneer friends, especially those of Whidbey Island. In Volume VII., pages 38-39, there was published Major Turner's tribute to Brigadier General James Clark Strong, another pioneer of Washington. In a recent letter Major Turner says: "I am down and out in all divisions of life—just waiting the advent of the final summons that will call me to the 'parting of the ways.' " He still retains an intense interest in history and many friends hope that his wonderful vigor will sustain him through the present disability. Major Turner was born in Baltimore on September 4, 1827.

Frederick W. Dewart of Spokane has presented the University of Washington with copies of two valuable manuscripts pertaining to the history of Eastern Washington.

One is entitled "Historical Notes on Stevens County, Washington." That modest title is in perfect keeping with the author, William Parkhurst Winans. He came to Oregon in 1859 and in July, 1861, he went to Fort Colville. In public and private life he had much to do with the early history of Stevens County. In 1873 he moved to Walla Walla where he was successful as a merchant and a banker. The name of W. P. Winans has always been synonymous with integrity of character. This carefully prepared manuscript will be highly prized in the growing collection of archives in the University of Washington Library.

Mr. Winans was born in Elizabeth, New Jersey, on January 28, 1836. He died in Walla Walla on April 24, 1917.

The other manuscript presented by Mr. Dewart is entitled, "The Last Indian Wars in Eastern Washington and Northern Idaho." The author, Garrett Bratt Hunt, graduated from the University of Rochester in 1890. For many years he was engaged in
