vice. This is the first such pamphlet on Mount McKinley National Park, Alaska. It gives a brief history and description of the Park as well as paragraphs about the plant and animal life found there. The value of the pamphlet is enhanced by two maps and on the covers are reproduced seven attractive photographs. The Superintendent of the Park is Henry P. Karstens, whose address is McKinley Park, Alaska.

Chronology of Woodrow Wilson. Compiled for Mary Vander-POOL PENNINGTON by JOHN RANDOLPH BOLLING and others. (New York: Frederick A. Stokes Company, 1927. Pp. 383. $3.50.)

The preface states: "It is often asked what Woodrow Wilson did that he became the universally acknowledged dominating world figure during the Great War, and what entitles him to rank forever among the foremost of mankind. This publication undertakes to answer this question in as brief and concise a form as can possibly be put forward, giving only easily accessible and verifiable Facts and Dates relating thereto."

In addition to the compact chronological table, occupying onehalf of the book, there is a summary of his life, a list of honors conferred upon him and selections of his most important addresses.

An American Soldier and Diplomat, Horace Porter. By Elsie Porter Mende, in collaboration with Henry Greenleaf Pearson. (New York: Frederick A. Stokes Company, 1927. Pp. 390. $5.00.)

Mrs. Mende is the daughter of General Horace Porter and has here prepared a literary monument to her distinguished father. As an aide to General Grant and later as Secretary to President Grant, General Porter's activities enlighten the annals of the American Civil War. As successful diplomat he saw much of the developments that led to the Great World War.

Although his career was national and international in its scope, it did not touch directly the Pacific Northwest. Still, a maritime people, having contacts with the United States Navy, are sure to be interested in Chapter XXI. of this book. It relates the remarkable achievement by America's Ambassador to France, General Horace Porter, in finding and rescuing the remains of John Paul Jones, America's first naval hero, more than a century after burial in an obscure Paris cemetery. Two republics thrilled over tardy pageantry. Even the participants frankly recognized that there was much of sentiment in the whole ceremony. Richard Watson Gilder, editor of the Century, when publishing General Porter's account of the successful search, acknowledged the sentimental quality and then added: "Yet sentiment is the soul of patriotism, and this unique achievement, begun in a desire to atone for a people's neglect, is certain to result in the founding of one of the noblest and most lasting of human influences—a national shrine."

Contributions to Fox Ethnology. By Truman Michelson. (Washington, D.C.: Bureau of American Ethnology, 1927. Pp. 168. 75 cents.)

As Bulletin 85, the book presents another example of the sustained industry of the Bureau of American Ethnology. The work consists of four papers on the "Ceremonial Runners" and "Sacred Packs" of the Fox Indians.

OTHER BOOKS RECEIVED

- Brown University Library. Lincoln Letters Hitherto Unpublished. (Providence: Brown University Library, 1927. Pp. 72.)
- Dominion of Canada. Report of the Public Archives for the Year 1926. (Ottawa: King's Printer, 1927. Pp. 25.)
- GRISWOLD, BERT J. Yort Wayne, Gateway of the West, 1802-1813. (Indianapolis: Indiana Historical Library, 1927. Pp. 690.)
- NEW HAMPSHIRE HISTORICAL SOCIETY. Manual for 1927, With Reports for the Year 1926. (Concord: The Society, 1927. Pp. 96.)
- Norwegian-American Historical Assocation. Studies and Records, Volume II. (Northfield: The Association, 1927. Pp. 137.)
- PALM, FRANKLIN CHARLES. Politics and Religion in Sixteenth Century France. (Boston: Ginn, 1927. Pp. 299.)
- SEATTLE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE. An Industrial Analysis of Seattle, The Puget Sound District and the Pacific Northwest. (Seattle: Chamber of Commerce, October, 1927. Pp. 52.)
- Western Reserve Historical Society. Transactions and Annual Report for the Year Ending May 1, 1927. (Cleveland: The Society, 1927. Pp. 84.)