

Transfer of Professors

In the last issue of the Quarterly mention was made of an exchange for the Summer Session of Professor William Morris of the University of Washington and Professor J. N. Bowman of the University of California, both being specialists in the Mediæval field. Since that time the exchange or transfer has been made permanent, and each is now settled contentedly in his new position.

The North American Indian

Edward S. Curtis of Seattle has just closed a very successful season of his research work among the Indians on the west coast of British Columbia. He reports having obtained a fine collection of unusual photographs and a vast amount of ethnological records of great value. The materials are now being prepared for publication in a forthcoming volume of his well known work.

University Extension

The new Department of University Extension in the University of Washington was inaugurated in Everett, Washington, on the evening of Tuesday, October 8. Director E. A. Start of the new department explained the purposes of the work. The first lecture was by Professor Edmond S. Meany on "Early Life and History of Puget Sound." Interest in the occasion was enhanced by the presence in the audience of a large delegation from the Tulalip Indian School.
