Announcement:

¶ The visit of Professor Frederick Jackson Turner, formerly of the University of Wisconsin but now of Harvard, is recognized by publishing in this Quarterly his Commencement address at the University of Washington. His friends hope he will come again before many years.

¶ This Issue completes Volume V. and it therefore carries the usual index and the "binder's title page."

¶ Evidences of appreciation are coming from widely separated sources. In asking for exchange of publications with the Quarterly the Royal Colonial Institute of London says: "It seems highly desirable that in view of the importance of the history of the Pacific Coast and adjacent territories the publications of your Society should be accessible to historical students in London."
