Announcements

¶ The Mississippi Valley interest in the Oregon Question in the early forties is clearly shown in Mr. Kingston's article on the Ohio Convention of 1843. He has gleaned from original sources and the current Ohio newspapers of that day.

¶ Mr. J. Orin Oliphant, now of Antioch College, was formerly of the State Normal School at Cheney. His article shows abundant researches throughout Eastern Washington. His work here published will serve future students and writers.

¶ Pioneer Frost's letter has been partially published heretofore but the entire document is worth saving as here reproduced.

¶ Friends of the Territorial University of Washington will be interested in the finding of Professor Frank P. Gilman's grave in China.

¶ William H. Taylor, pioneer resident of North Bend, founder of that city, has revived interest in the old settler for whom Mount Si was named.

¶ An item in the News Department shows the growing attention being given to Washington's Bicentennial. Other items are planned on other parts of this subject as the day draws nearer.
