- ¶ Mr. Wrinch is starting on a career of careful research in history. It is known that others are working on his present theme, Puget Sound Agricultural Company. It is a good field.
- ¶ Mr. William S. Clark, last survivor of the Walla Walla Constitutional Convention of 1878, is rich in his own pioneer memories and is also collecting documents from others.
- ¶ Honors to Judge F. W. Howay, of New Westminster, British Columbia, will surely be approved throughout Canada, the United States, and Hawaii, where his historical researches are appreciated.
- ¶ Mr. Overmeyer, of the University of Oregon, has searched many sources for his article on "Nathaniel Jarvis Wyeth."
- ¶ Professor J. Orin Oliphant will have more articles or a book from his present work on the Marcus Whitman and other sources at Cambridge and Boston.
- ¶ Professor Walter N. Sage, of the University of British Columbia, is mentioned three times in this issue.
- ¶ The unusually extensive materials in the News and Book Review Departments in this issue hold a fine promise for this new Volume XXIV.
