

Gernon writes on "Lincoln's Visits to Chicago"; an article on "The Lincoln Rooms" has beautiful illustrations. The balance of the Bulletin is occupied with early Chicago records.

---

The Pacific Area

Pacific Affairs, published in Camden, New Jersey, by the Institute of Pacific Relations, Honolulu, Hawaii, U. S. A., in the issue for March, has three main articles: "The Naval Arm of Diplomacy in the Pacific," by H. Th. de Booy; "Standards of Living Among Native Peoples of the Pacific," by Felix M. Keesing; and "Prince, Priest and Herdsman in Mongolia," by Owen Lattimore. There follow important Studies and Reports, Comment and Opinion and Book Reviews. The present editor, Owen Lattimore, was born in Washington, D. C., July 29, 1900. He has had important editorial and business experiences in China.

---

Frontier Doors of Ariculture

Edwin A. Smith, Manaing Editor of The Washington Farmer, Spokane, continues his earnest and intelligent work in behalf of the Pacific Northwest in these changing times. In a footnote to an outline map showing the nine geographic features of the United States he says: "But the frontier doors of agriculture west of the Rocky Mountains are thrown wide open to the tremendous development of the luxuries and refinements of agriculture, in addition to a substantial per cent of the so-called fundamental products of agriculture."

---

Friendship With Japan

Monroe E. Deutsch Vice President and Provost, University of California, before the Japan Society of San Francisco, on January 29, 1935, gave a cordial address in favor of friendship between the two nations. It has been published in a pamphlet entitled "The True Open Door."

---

Single House Legislature

While in many parts of the country, discussions have been held as to the advisability of adopting the plan of a single house legislature, the problem was carefully studied in the Cashmere high school.