

A SELECTED BIBLIOGRAPHY OF THE WRITINGS OF EDMOND STEPHEN MEANY

This bibliography has been prepared for the purpose of giving to the student of history a list of the more significant works of the late Edmond Stephen Meany. Selection has been made from a more complete bibliography, copies of which are in the Department of History and in the Library of the University of Washington. This original compilation which consists of over five hundred items was planned and prepared in great part by Professor Meany himself. It is arranged chronologically by subject and contains nine main sections: Books and Pamphlets, Magazine and Newspaper Articles, Laws, Book Reviews, Editorials, Inscriptions, Poems, Prefaces or Forewords, Miscellaneous.

Chronological arrangement by subject has been retained. The sections devoted to "Books and Pamphlets" and "Laws" have been taken with practically no changes from the original bibliography. It was found necessary to select the magazine and newspaper articles very carefully and an effort was made to examine each item before including it in the final copy. Three references originally entered in the "Books and Pamphlets" section have been included in the new list as manuscripts.

Of the material to be found in the original bibliography but not contained in the present compilation, special mention should be made of the group of over one hundred poems, a list of inscriptions written for various monuments erected in the Pacific Northwest, and numerous editorials prepared for magazines and newspapers.
