

The authors of articles in this volume are as follows:

DARKO FRIŠ is associate dean for research and arts in the Education Faculty at the University of Maribor. His specialization is Slovene emigré history in North America.

GRANT LUNDBERG is an Assistant Professor at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah. His areas of specialization are Historical Slavic Linguistics and Dialectology. He recently published a phonological description of two Haloze village dialects in Slovenski jezik / Slovene Linguistic Studies.

IRENA MILANIČ is a specialist in English language and literature (B.A., University of Trieste). She is currently a junior researcher at the Scientific Institute of the Faculty of Arts, University of Ljubljana, completing her doctoral dissertation on the Slovene-American periodical Mladinski List-Juvenile.

JERNEJA PETRIČ is professor of American literature at Ljubljana University. She has published widely on Louis Adamic, Slovene-American literature, and individual writers, including Slovene-American. Recent publications include "Književnost slovenskih priseljencev in njihovih potomcev v ZDA od leta 1891," (co-edited) Ameriška proza: od realizma do postmodernizma, and (edited) Vatro Grill's memoirs.

TOM M.S. PRIESTLY is professor of Slavic linguistics at the University of Alberta. His main area of research is minority languages, especially Slovene in Carinthia. He has also worked in other areas, e.g., historical linguistics and the historiography of linguistics, and from time to time translates Slovene poetry into English.

MAURICE WILLIAMS is a professor of history at Okanagan University College in Kelowna, Canada. He has published articles on Austrian and German National Socialism as well as on the Slovenes under the Nazis. He is currently working on a biography of Friedrich Rainer, the Nazi leader of Carinthia, Carniola, and Istria.

ZVONE ŽIGON is an anthropologist at the Institute for Slovene Emigration Studies and (since 2000) government counselor at the Office for Slovenes Abroad, Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Republic of Slovenia. He has published two books, Otroci dveh domovin (1993) and Iz spomina v prihodnost (2001). His current projects are Slovenes in Africa and the Slovene missionary as an emigrant.