

OUR CONTRIBUTORS

Mateja Pezdirc Bartol is a faculty member in the Oddelek za slovenistiko, Filozofska fakulteta, University of Ljubljana. She has published in a number of journals on reader reception, literary style, and literary history. She writes on contemporary Slovene theater in Gledališki list and contributes to the website SiGledal.org. She has served as chair of the Seminar slovenskega jezika, literature in kulture.

mateja.pezdirc-bartol@guest.arnes.si

Urška Perenič is a faculty member in the Oddelek za slovenistiko, Filozofska fakulteta, University of Ljubljana. After defending her dissertation, “Konstrukcija nacionalnega literarnega sistema z vidika empirične sistemske teorije,” she did post-doctoral research and lecturing in Germany and Austria. In 2010 she edited Sončna ura: Pisemska korespondenca Borisa Pahorja in Marije Žagar (1961–1996).

urska.perenic@uni-mb.si

Marta Rendla is a research assistant at the Institute for Contemporary History in Ljubljana. She has been involved in projects relating to casualties on the territory of the Republic of Slovenia during and after WW II and repressions between 1945 and 1963. Her publications are on popular music in Slovenia and the standard of living.

marta.rendla@inz.si

Karl W. Ryavec is Professor Emeritus at the University of Massachusetts Amherst, where he taught Russian and East European politics for more than forty years. He graduated from Miami University (Ohio) and has a Ph.D. from Columbia University.

ryavec@polsci.umass.edu

Alojzija Zupan Sosič is a faculty member in the Oddelek za slovenistiko, Filozofska fakulteta, University of Ljubljana. She has published extensively on the contemporary Slovene novel, narrative genres, and gender theory. Since 2006, she has chaired the Center za slovenščino’s worldwide network of language programs.

alozjija.zupan-sosic@guest.arnes.si

Ana Toroš is at the School of Humanities, University of Nova Gorica. Her primary research interests are imagology and Slovene-Italian literary relations. Her articles have appeared in Slavistična revija and the Proceedings of Slavistični kongres. In 2009 she received the international poetry award, Castello di Duino.

ana.toros@ung.si

Luka Zibelnik teaches Slovene language and culture at Cleveland State University and Lakeland Community College. Since 2008, he has lectured and supported activities at the Slovene Center at Cleveland State, the Slovenian Museum and Archives, the Slovenian-American Heritage Foundation, and other colleges and universities in the U.S.

luka_zibelnik@yahoo.com