

ARTICLES:

- Raymond Miller, Pan-Slavism, Germanocentrism and Russian Particularism: Notes on “Über die russische Sprache,” Laibacher Wochenblatt, 1804 . . . . . 3
- Michael Biggins, How Kovačič’s Fur Coat Is Made: What a Formalist Analysis Reveals about the Great Slovenian Novel . . . . . 23
- Kristina Reardon, Unmasking the Balkan Wars . . . . . 55
- Alenka Žbogar, Elements of Literariness in Oscar Wilde’s Novel The Picture of Dorian Gray and Teaching the Novel in High School . . . . . 79

TRANSLATION:

- Michael Biggins, Raising Adria: Vladimir Bartol’s Evocation of the Last Years of Habsburg Trieste . . . . . 95
- Vladimir Bartol, A Youth in St. Ivan. Translated by Michael Biggins . . . . . 105

REVIEWS:

- Marijan Dović and Jón Karl Helgason, eds. Great Immortality: Studies on European Cultural Sainthood (Irina Stakhanova) . . . . . 163
- Cvetka Lipuš. Kaj smo, ko smo/What We Are, When We Are. Translated by Tom Priestly (Raymond Miller) . . . . . 166

Matej Šurc. Patriotism for Sale: How Independent Slovenia Fell Foul of Crooked Arms Dealers. Translated by Vasili Volarič (Noah Charney) . . . . .	170
Radovan Hrast. Stripped of My Time: A Survivor of the Communist Political Prison on Goli Otok. Translated by Roman Vučajnk (Noah Charney) . . . . .	173
Lujiza Pesjakova and Urška Perenič. Beatin dnevnik: Roman. Prvi slovenski družinski roman v obliki dnevnika (Timothy Pogačar) . . . . .	175
OUR CONTRIBUTORS . . . . .	177