

OUR CONTRIBUTORS

Jožica Jožef Beg is a teacher at The Education Centre in Novo mesto. She is the author and co-author of several course books and handbooks for the Slovene language and literature in secondary schools. Moreover, she has written numerous articles about literature didactics. The focus of her research is mainly on the methods of developing key competences and literary competence. jozica.beg@guest.arnes.si

Charles Bukowski is a professor and director of the Institute of International Studies at Bradley University. He was a Senior Fulbright Lecturer in the Department of International Relations at the University of Ljubljana in 1994. His current research focuses on the problems of small states in the international system. cjb@fsmail.bradley.edu

Grant Lundberg is a professor of Slavic linguistics at Brigham Young University. He teaches the structure and history of Russian as well as Slovenian cultural history and language. He has published extensively on the dialect area of Haloze, dialect and sociolinguistic questions in Austrian and Slovenian Carinthia, and perceptual dialectology in Slovenia as well as the influence of English on varieties of Slovene. He has been the coeditor, with Kozma Ahačič, of Slovenski jezik / Slovene Linguistic Studies since 2011. grant\_lundberg@byu.edu