

OUR CONTRIBUTORS

The authors' of articles in this volume are as follows:

FRANCE BERNIK is President of the Slovene Academy of Sciences and Arts. He was honored in June 1994 with the title Ambassador Republike Slovenije v znanosti by the Ministry of Sciences and Technology. His latest book is Ivan Cankar: Ein slowenischer Schriftsteller des Euopäischen Symbolismus.

FRANCE MARTIN DOLINAR holds a Ph.D. in church history from the Gregoriana University in Rome and is on the history faculty at the University of Ljubljana. He managed the Archdiocesan Archives of Ljubljana and has directed the survey of records on Slovenes in foreign archives. Among his most recent is Rožmanov proces (with Tamara Griesser Pečar, 1996).

PAUL M. FOSTER, JR. is a lecturer in the Filoloshki fakultet "Blazhe Koneski" at Sts. Cyril and Methodius University in Skopje, Macedonia. He holds a Ph.D. in Slavic Cultures from Columbia University, where he studied under Professor Rado Lencek.

IRENA GANTAR GODINA is a senior research associate in the Institute for Slovene Emigration Studies. Currently she is working on temporary Slovene emigration to other Slavic lands before 1918. Among her most recent publications on Slovene-Slavic cultural and intellectual relations is the monograph is Neoslavizem in Slovenci (1994).

MIRAN HLADNIK is professor of Slovene literature and chair of the Department of Slavic Languages and Literatures (1996–98) at Ljubljana University. He has published widely on Slovene narrative fiction, including the book Slovenska kmečka povest (1990) and, together with Toussaint Hočevar, the phrasebook Slovene for Travelers (1994).

METOD M. MILAČ is Associate Director, Emeritus, of the Syracuse University Library, and held various other positions during his thirty years at the university. His areas of research are late sixteenth-century music and WW II in Slovenia and Central Europe.

DARJA PICIGA holds a doctorate in cognitive developmental psychology from the University of Belgrade and the University of Ljubljana, has headed the Center for Research in Cognition in Learning at the Educational Research Institute (Ljubljana), and has been a member of the National Curriculum Council since 1995. She currently lectures in the Department of Librarianship, University of Ljubljana.

DIMITRIJ RUPEL earned a doctorate in sociology from Brandeis University (1976) and joined the faculty of the University of Ljubljana in 1982. In addition to university positions in Slovenia and abroad, he has served as Slovenia's first foreign minister, deputy to parliament, mayor of Ljubljana, and is now ambassador to the U.S. He has published numerous essays, scholarly articles, edited volumes, novels, and plays. Among his most recent books are Edinost, sreča, sprava (1996), and Svoboda proti državi (1998).

KARL W. RYAVEC has taught Russian politics and related courses at the University of Massachusetts since 1964. He holds a Ph.D. in political science and the Russian Institute Certificate from Columbia University. Among his major publications is United States-Soviet Relations (1989). He has served as a William C. Foster Fellow in the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency (1995–96).

EDO ŠKULJ has a Master's in theology and received his doctorate in church music from the Papal Lateran University. He was named cathedral chaplain in Ljubljana in 1975 and has edited the journal Cerkveni glabenik. He teaches paleography and organ studies at the Academy of Music and has held administrative and research positions at the Theological Faculty since 1989. Among his major scholarly works is the Slovene Academy's twenty-volume collection of Gallus's works.

MAURICE WILLIAMS is professor and chair, Department of History at Okanagan University College in Kelowna, Canada. He has published articles on Austrian National Socialism and is currently working on a biography of Friedrich Rainer, the Nazi leader of Carinthia, Carniola, and Istria.